ORANGE, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--With the launch of Village Nurseries Landscape Centers' redesigned website (<http://www.villagenurserieslc.com/>), landscape architects, contractors and designers now have a convenient, centralized location where they can find the plant materials required to complete their designs, view new plantings (many of them exclusive), check availability and access one of the largest plant libraries on the Internet.

“When landscape professionals want information, they want it now. They don't want to hunt for it,” said Mark Marriott, executive vice president, Village Nurseries Landscape Centers. “Our new website is designed to be fast and easy to navigate. Whether landscape architects and designers are looking for plantings for a residence or a major commercial design, we give them the tools they need to get the job done. Like our Landscape Centers themselves, the site provides one-stop convenience.”

Among the site's new navigation bars are:

- Synthetic Turf. Landscape professionals can compare turf cross-sections and use a free estimator to help determine overall costs.
- Pottery. The Landscape Centers offer an exceptional selection of popular shapes, finishes and sizes, especially larger sizes.
- Wish List. Landscape architects and designers can create their own customized plant list for specific projects to show clients.

In addition, the site includes:

- Plant Palette. A search function by plant type and by seasonal availability to confirm the Landscape Centers either has the materials in stock or can get them.
- What's Growing Today. Regularly updated slideshow informs on what is currently available.
- Availabilities. Provides access to Village Nurseries weekly updated availabilities, including Top 300 new plants. Registration is required.
- Village Nurseries' extensive Plant Library. It describes each plant from azaleas to vines along with a photo and recommended planting zones.

On the website, landscape professionals can access the Landscape Center closest to them with a single click.
